- Cheap Shoes Release 2017

Nike MAG may not have been able to in this year on sale, but the use of science and technology is equipped with self-lacing automatic lacing system also makes people full of expectations. The day before Nike CEO Mark Parker is revealed in a conversation with NBA's internal Nike, the future will bring more scientific sports equipment, self-lacing is one of them.

2017, Nike will officially become NBA equipment sponsors, then not only will launch more sophisticated high-quality equipment, will present the research achievements of science and technology in recent years which, like the previously mentioned self-lacing, and through computer control temperature sensor with a comfortable sports apparel and so on, all of these will no longer belong to the qualified products, promotion from but in the market. So it seems that the earlier announced 2020 achieve $50 billion goal of the Nike is not exaggeration, but sports market through the elements of science and technology occupation, when self-lacing can feel for the general public, we will wait and see.
